

Reliable Sources for Gathering Information

Pursue your research for the summer Human Rights assignment using the vetted sites listed in this document that contain a wide variety of information applicable to the required work. These are sites that your teachers have reviewed, ones that contain reputable information.

Too much of the information that is so readily available to all of us via the internet and social media in today's world is simply someone's opinion or a repeat of someone else's thoughts. So, please make sure that whatever you are recording as fact is truthful information not just biased opinion.

Whether you are repeating truthful opinion or conveying fact-based material, be sure you cite all sources.
